2. Success in Developing Intelligence: A research team exploring the link between music and intelligence reported that music training is far superior to computer instruction in dramatically enhancing children’s abstract reasoning skills, the skills necessary for learning math and science.
3. Success in Society: The College Board identifies the arts as one of the six basic academic subject areas students should study in order to succeed in college.
4. Success in Life: Music is about communication, creativity, and cooperation, and, by studying music in school, students have the opportunity to build on these skills, enrich their lives, and experience the world from a new perspective.
5. Musical Experience: Music is a worthwhile endeavor in and of itself. It allows for self-expression, appreciation of aesthetic beauty, and a life-long skill for personal enjoyment.
